Box No. III Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability

---

1. The questions whether the claimed invention appears to be novel, to involve an inventive step (to be non-obvious), or to be industrially applicable have not been examined in respect of:

☐ the entire international application,

☒ claims Nos. 1-12,14-44 (all partially)

because:

☐ the said international application, or the said claims Nos. relate to the following subject matter which does not require an international preliminary examination (specify):

☐ the description, claims or drawings (indicate particular elements below) or said claims Nos. are so unclear that no meaningful opinion could be formed (specify):

☐ the claims, or said claims Nos. are so inadequately supported by the description that no meaningful opinion could be formed.

☒ no international search report has been established for the said claims Nos. 1-12,14-44 (all partially)

☐ the nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence listing does not comply with the standard provided for in Annex C of the Administrative Instructions in that:

the written form

☐ has not been furnished

☐ does not comply with the standard

the computer readable form

☐ has not been furnished

☐ does not comply with the standard

☐ the tables related to the nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence listing, if in computer readable form only, do not comply with the technical requirements provided for in Annex C-bis of the Administrative Instructions.

☐ See separate sheet for further details

Re Item III.

The present claims relate to an extremely large number of possible compounds and the use thereof. Support within the meaning of Article 6 PCT and disclosure within the meaning of Article 5 PCT is to be found, however, for only a very small proportion of the compounds, namely the compounds specifically mentioned in the description and covered by claim 13. In the present case, the claims so lack support, and the application so lacks disclosure, that a meaningful search over the whole of the claimed scope was deemed impossible. Consequently, the search was carried out for those parts of the claims which appear to be supported and disclosed, namely those parts relating to the compounds of claim 13 where a piperidine ring is present (the search covered a broader scope in that a compound containing a cyclic nitrogen was broader - the structure searched was  $\text{P(O)-C-(O or S)-(C)}_{1-2}\text{-C-N}^{\text{cyclic}}$ .)

Hence this opinion is only to be considered valid for those parts of the application which have actually been searched, i.e. the subject-matter of claim 13 where the compound contains a cyclic nitrogen containing compound.

Re Item V.

The two documents cited in the International Search Report were the only two containing structures which matched the structure searched. The compounds contained in these documents are to be seen as considerably different to the compounds exemplified in the present application such that novelty can be acknowledged. An inventive step is also to be acknowledged as the compounds exemplified bear no structural resemblance to known compounds in the same field as the present application and are to be seen as non-obvious solutions to the object of the present application, namely to provide compounds which inhibit undesired cell proliferation for the various uses indicated in the claims.

Re Item VII.

You have not cited what you regard as the compounds or documents representing the closest prior art (Rule 5.1(a)(ii) PCT).
